

Making data work

If your business systems are not providing a sufficient return on investment, something is wrong.

DESIGN | BUILD | PROMOTE

We make IT work for you not against you.

b2b to free you data and let you automate your workday

Our tools let you schedule your data extracts while you focus on running your business. Simple tools built with the SME business in mind.

b2b for the SME

Our suite of b2b tools for SMEs makes exchanging business data easy. We develop data integration solutions enabling your website to talk to your accounting system.

Many companies have a website and almost all have an accounting system, so why are so few making them talk to each other?

We can improve the way that you do business, removing the tedium and letting you get back to what really matters in your business, providing excellent service to your customers.

Our b2b business software solution for SMEs has been developed to allow smaller companies to talk to each other.

Our simple tools allow regular transfer of data without the need for a custom solution. Now even small companies can afford to regularly export data for offline analysis or exchange it with their business partners. Our suite of b2b tools provide the ability to carry out everyday tasks like exporting sales figures and then emailing the results to a group of people.

Our tools let you schedule your data extracts while you focus on running your business. We can develop custom modules if you have additional needs and we supply a no surprise guarantee, you will receive a comprehensive quotation of what we will do, how long it will take and for a fixed price - no nasty surprises.

CSV Conversion

Do you get regular data extracts from suppliers and third parties and need to reformat the data to suit your system? Our CSV converter lets you define the translation from the source to the output once and then it can be scheduled

ODBC Export

Do you use ODBC to extract data from your business systems? Our ODBC module lets you create a definition, schedule the extract and even automatically email it to a group of people, great for daily or weekly statistics.

Unattended File Transfer

If you need to get or put data to your website or remote branch without user interaction, then our UFTP module lets you automate this without compromising security.

Flexible Scheduling

Because most people want end of month processes, our scheduler was written with business in mind. It knows about end of month and last working day of the month.
