About Polychrome

We are more than just a website and software development company, we want to be an integral part of your business.

We have a slightly different view of the world when it comes to business systems. If they are not providing a sufficient return on investment then something is wrong.

We specialise in making IT happen. We focus on three main areas; business marketing and promotion using your website, data integration from your business systems to your website and custom software development.

We care about your success and are in this as a partner for the long haul, not a quick sale.

We guarantee our work and offer a fixed price on everything we do, so there are no nasty surprises.

Our range of products and services covers:

Web

- designing and building beautiful websites
- optimising websites for search engines (Google) so that your site gets visitors
- helping with content and ensuring that you are making an impact
- using the internet to improve communications with your customers
- measuring the results with analytics

Data Integration

- automated b2b data exchange (EDI)
- Accounting data conversion

Custom Software

- Addons and extensions for Microsoft Office™ such as custom address books
- Bespoke data integration
- Fully custom business solutions
